Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC)

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) was created in 1994 by the Kansas Legislature (K.S.A. 74-9501 et seq.) to define and analyze issues and processes in the criminal justice system, identify alternative solutions and make recommendations for improvement. The KCJCC also directs the development and management of the criminal justice information system.

The Council provides the oversight of the criminal justice funding available to the state from the U. S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Assistance. The KCJCC is charged with developing the Kansas strategy, prioritizing purpose areas for funding and determining grant awards. With the Council members' expertise and knowledge, the KCJCC has developed strategies and approaches to prevent, as well as control, violent and drug-related crimes.

KCJCC members are statutorily appointed and consist of the Governor or designee, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court or designee, the Attorney General or designee, the Secretary of Corrections, the Superintendent of the Highway Patrol, the Commissioner of the Juvenile Justice Authority and the Director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation.

More information on the KCJCC can be found online at www.ksgovernor.org/grants/kcjcc.shtml.

Kansas Task Force Addressing Methamphetamine and Illegal Drugs

In an effort to decrease the manufacture and transportation of methamphetamine and illegal drugs into and through Kansas, Governor Kathleen Sebelius requested that the KCJCC form the Kansas Task Force Addressing Methamphetamine & Illegal Drugs. The KCJCC approved Governor Sebelius' request and the task force was created in December 2004 to address methamphetamine/drug enforcement issues at the local level. Kansas Highway Patrol (KHP) Col. William Seck and Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI) Director Larry Welch co-chair the task force. Task force members include Adrian Polansky, Kansas Department of Agriculture Secretary; Roderick Bremby, Kansas Department of Health & Environment Secretary; Sandy Horton, Crawford County Sheriff; Dean Akins, Great Bend Police Chief; Jerome Gorman, Wyandotte County District Attorney; Clardy Vinson, Topeka High School Principal; Cristi Cain, Kansas Methamphetamine Prevention Project; Judge Joe Kisner, Sedgwick County District Court; Dr. Eric Voth, Shawnee County, Coroner; Dwain Worley, KBI Forensic Lab; Steve Rosebrough, KBI South East Kansas Drug Enforcement Task Force; Lt. Ray Bailiff, Kansas Highway Patrol; Kevin Bascue, Finney County Sheriff; and Donna Doolin, Addiction and Prevention Services Director, Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services.

The task force met five times in 2005 and heard presentations on meth treatment efforts; meth prevention education; drug courts; drug offenders and sentencing guidelines; and the impact of Senate Bill 27, the Sheriff Matt Samuels Chemical Control Act. One of the task force's goals was the passage and signage of the Sheriff Matt Samuels Chemical Control Act, SB 27. The bill was named in recognition of Greenwood County Sheriff Matt Samuels who was killed in January while serving a search warrant at a home he did not know was the site of a meth lab.

On April 15, 2005, Governor Sebelius signed SB 27 into law.

SB 27 makes any compound or mixture containing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine, except for the liquid or gel capsule form, a schedule V controlled substance. The new law requires consumers to provide a photo id showing their date of birth and sign a log prior to purchasing the cold medicine containing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine. The law also restricts a consumer from purchasing four or more packages or containers of ephedrine or pseudoephedrine within a seven-day period.

The KBI reported fewer meth lab seizures following the enactment of SB 27. In 2004, 583 meth labs were seized and 337 were seized in 2005. Although passage of SB 27 has been a success, it will not solve the meth problem in Kansas. If SB 27 continues to decrease the number of meth labs in Kansas, law enforcement will have more time and resources to devote to meth trafficking, which accounts for 80 percent of the meth in the state.

More information on the Meth Task Force can be found online at www.ksgovernor.org/grants/kcjcc.shtml.

Kansas Wireless Enhanced 911 Advisory Board (KWEAB)

The Kansas Legislature enacted K.S.A. 12-5321 et seq. The law provides funding to help agencies make the required improvements to establish the enhanced wireless services. Funds are generated from the 25-cent-monthly fee imposed on each wireless service account in Kansas. The law also established the Kansas Wireless Enhanced 911 Advisory Board (KWEAB). The Board establishes the criteria and guidelines for administering the grant funds.

KWEAB members include Diane Gage, Sedgwick County, representing a Public Safety Answering Point (PSAP) with a population of more than 15,000; Pat Thetford, representing local exchange service providers; Bob Boaldin, representing Kansas Association of Counties; Don DeHaven, representing League of Kansas Municipalities; Kermit Crane, representing local law enforcement; Mike Napolitano, representing local fire/EMS; Jim Jarboe, Kearny County, representing a PSAP with a population less than 15,000; Dick Veach, representing wireless carriers industry; and John Gaunt, representing the Kansas Highway Patrol.

More information on the KWEAB and Enhanced 911 grant program can be found online at www.ksgovernor.org/grants/kweab.shtml.

Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board

On October 11, 2004, Governor Kathleen Sebelius signed an executive order establishing the 14-member Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board (FRB). The FRB is charged with reviewing all adult domestic violence-related fatalities in Kansas, describing trends and patterns regarding the facts and circumstances of these fatalities, recommending improvements to prevent future fatalities and determining if adequate resources and trainings are in place for those who respond to domestic violence crimes.

Former Kansas Attorney General Robert T. Stephan chairs the board. Other board members include Judge Harold Flaige, Sedgwick County District Court; Dave Warry, Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center; Dr. Mary Dudley, Sedgwick County District Coroner-Medical Examiner; Steven Halley, Halley Counseling Services, P.A.; Sandra Barnett, Kansas Coalition Against Sexual & Domestic Violence; Bradelyn Nichols, Unified Government of Wyandotte County Legal Department; Sara Welch, Johnson County Assistant District Attorney; Janice Norlin, attorney; Margaret Haghirian, parole officer; Carol Rood, court services officer, Susan Moran, SOS; Andria Cooper, Fort Hays State University assistant professor; and Sergeant Troy Hensley, law enforcement officer.

The FRB began its review with the most current data and started with domestic violence – related fatalities that occurred in 2003. According to the Kansas Bureau of Investigation’s 2003 Domestic Violence and Rape Report, 15 domestic violence-related homicides occurred in Kansas in 2003. The FRB reviewed six cases involving nine deaths that were closed and had no further action or appeals pending.

More information about the FRB’s findings and recommendations can be found online at www.ks governor.org/grants/gdvfrb.shtml.

The U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, Bureau of Justice Assistance provides the funding for this grant.

BYRNE funding assists state and local units of government enhance the criminal justice system. Kansas continues to focus BYRNE funding on information technology, treatment, prevention and enforcement efforts. In FY 2005, the KCJCC awarded $6,191,444 to 80 grant projects. As a result of BYRNE funding, the following program accomplishments were achieved in FY 2005:

- 2,742 investigations were conducted
- 672 arrests were made
- 3,304 cases were prosecuted
- 2,743 offenders received treatment
- 786 offenders were successfully discharged from treatment
- 11,924 victims were served
- 11,012 individuals were trained

During the grant period, Governor Kathleen Sebelius requested the KCJCC provide $60,000 to the Wichita Police Department to assist with its cold case investigation into the Bind Torture Kill (BTK) serial killer. The pain the BTK killer inflicted on the Wichita community was incomprehensible. The investigation consumed a lot of the police department's financial resources. In addition to helping the police department, the grant award assisted the Sedgwick County Forensic Science Center and the Kansas Bureau of Investigation with their on-going expenses. On February 26, 2005, Dennis Radar was arrested in connection with the cold case investigation. On June 27, 2005, he confessed to the crimes. And, on August 18, 2005, BTK serial killer Dennis Rader was sentenced to 10 consecutive life sentences for a string of murders that terrified Wichita residents for decades.

At the November 4, 2004 KCJCC meeting, the Council approved Governor Sebelius' request to form a task force of local and state law enforcement officials, members of the judicial system and treatment and prevention specialists to address the methamphetamine/drug enforcement issues at the local level with Kansas Highway Patrol Col. William Seck and Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI) Director Larry Welch co-chairing the task force.

* Represents seizures from January 1, 2005 to December 1, 2005. www.kansas.gov/kbi/stats_meth.shtml

The task force hosted two Meth Summits. The first summit was May 17, 2005 in Topeka and the second summit was December 7, 2005 in Salina. Summit presentations included the medical impact on meth users; treatment for meth users; a panel discussion by former meth users; an overview of federal, state and local efforts to combat meth; Kansas and Oklahoma legislation and their impacts on meth; education and prevention efforts; and the affects of methamphetamine on children who have been exposed to it.

The KCJCC's funding priorities for BYRNE funding for SFY 2005 were enforcement, treatment, and prevention of drug-related crimes, violent and juvenile crime and information technology to continue efforts to improve the criminal justice information system. Below is a description of the programs eligible for funding in the four priority areas and highlights of some programs funded during SFY 2005.

Enforcement funding focused on programs:

- Targeting enforcement through the use of multi-jurisdictional drug task forces, prosecution and the enhancement of the criminal justice system's response to illegal drugs, especially methamphetamines.
- Improving enforcement, prosecution and the criminal justice system's response to violent and juvenile crime.
- Understanding the connection between violent and juvenile crimes to drug and substance abuse.

The largest drug task force in Kansas is the Southeast Kansas Drug Enforcement Task Force. The Kansas Bureau of Investigation coordinates the task force which consists of 20 agencies including sheriff's departments, police departments, prosecutor offices and the Kansas Attorney General's Office. The task force coordinates with the Midwest High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area

Inspiration from the Community

"I hope Mr. Rader has given some closure to the victims' families and Wichita as a whole," said Steve Osburn, one of Rader's lawyers, after the hearing. "He has left no doubt the BTK killer has been caught."

- Wichita Police Department

(HIDTA), the United States Attorney's Office and the Kansas National Guard Counter-Drug Special Operations Group. Funding also supported several other task forces and narcotics-related investigations and arrests. Enforcement funding also supported an alternative to detention, jail and prison for persons who pose no danger to the community; provided additional vocational training opportunities for juvenile offenders and increased the number of juvenile offenders participating in vocational training programs; and purchased video conferencing systems to reduce delays in court appearances for adults and juveniles and decreased the amount of time deputies spend driving to court.

Treatment funding focused on programs:

- Developing treatment options to address drug use by offenders in correctional facilities and in communities.
- Developing treatment options for violent crime, child abuse, family violence, juvenile crime and gang activity offenders.

During SFY 2005, grant funds were provided to a variety of treatment programs including the Franklin County Sheriff's Department to assist with the continuum of mental health and substance abuse assessment, treatment and after-care services for adult and juvenile offenders detained in the County. Funding also supported a Day Reporting program, which provides well-rounded professional drug/alcohol treatment services to identify and address a broad range of psychological, social, drug and alcohol-related problems while allowing adult offenders to maintain regular family and employment roles; a methamphetamine specific treatment program to decrease recidivism and appropriately address the needs of offenders who use/abuse methamphetamine; and an intensive outpatient treatment program to divert offenders with co-occurring disorders from further involvement in the legal system.

Prevention funding focused on programs:

- Providing education to improve the public's response to illegal drugs
- Providing education efforts to prevent violent crime, child abuse, family violence, juvenile crime and gang activity.

The KCJCC defines prevention as the active process creating and rewarding conditions leading to healthy behaviors and lifestyles. The Council's goal is to support prevention efforts leading to a safer Kansas. A variety of prevention programs received BYRNE funding including the Gray County Attorney's Office to recruit, hire and train a forensic interviewer specializing in interviewing child witnesses and victims to increase the ability of rural jurisdictions to effectively resolve child sexual abuse cases by providing training to rural law enforcement officers; the Sunflower House to provide child-sensitive and legally defensible forensic interviews of children in child sexual abuse or physical abuse investigations; and the Kansas Department of Corrections to improve notification services to crime victims in Kansas and reduce the risk of creating new victims by assisting offenders in understanding the impact of crime on the victim and the community prior to their release.

Information Technology funding focused on programs:

- Continuing efforts to enhance and improve record-keeping and data management systems, as well as the state criminal justice information system.

The largest information technology grant was awarded to the Douglas County District Attorney's Office for the development and implementation of the Kansas Prosecutors Case Management System (KPCMS) for county and district attorneys' offices. The prosecution module of FullCourt was modified to be a Kansas-specific module for Kansas prosecutors. Several subgrantees received grant awards to continue the implementation and integration of the Kansas Criminal Justice Information System (KCJIS). This program provides a standard system to ensure that data is collected uniformly using a common format. In addition, information technology grants funded automated fingerprinting equipment, multi-jurisdictional records and jail management systems, video equipment to enhance crime scene photography and investigations, a drug and alcohol deterrence program for juveniles and a drying cabinet to improve the collection and preservation of drug and biological (DNA) evidence.

ENHANCED 911 STATE GRANT (E911) JANUARY 1, 2005—DECEMBER 31, 2005

In FY 2005, the Enhanced 911 State Grant Program (E911) provided $3,039,713 to 34 local Public Safety Answering Points (PSAPs).

The purpose of the E911 grant is to provide funding for necessary and reasonable costs incurred by PSAPs for implementing wireless enhanced 911 services; purchasing equipment or upgrades and modification to equipment used solely to process the data elements of wireless enhanced 911 services; and maintaining license fees for such equipment and training of personnel to operate such equipment, including costs to train personnel to provide effective services to all users of the emergency telephone system who have communication disabilities.

Any county with a population of less than 75,000, any city located within such a county, or any two or more such counties or cities are eligible to apply for E911 funds. Funding for the grant is generated from a 25-cent-monthly fee imposed on each wireless service account in Kansas.

Inspiration from the Community

The impact of this grant project being completed has been a great asset to the Lane County Sheriff's Office and Lane County. The department now is able to receive wireless enhanced 911 calls and phone number information for these wireless calls. This allows the department to call the caller back in the event of a lost or bad connection and has aided the department in being able to properly locate callers therefore allowing a quicker response time in most cases. The department also is able to pass information on to other county if the department receives a call from a wireless caller not in Lane County.

FEDERAL FAMILY VIOLENCE PREVENTION AND SERVICES ACT GRANT PROGRAM (FVPSA) JULY 1, 2004 TO JUNE 30, 2005

In FY 2005, the Federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act Grant Program (FVPSA) provided $1,091,772 to 22 domestic violence programs in Kansas. The U.S. Department of Health & Human Services provides funding for this grant.

FVPSA funds pay for support group activities for women and children, child care, prevention education in schools and communities, information and referral services, advocacy in obtaining protection from abuse orders, court accompaniment, outreach into rural counties, etc. One of the Governor's S.A.F.E. Communities Program's priorities is ensuring services are provided 24-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week and free to domestic violence victims and their children. Many programs provide outreach services in the rural counties. Services range from safe homes, support groups, crisis intervention, court accompaniment and transportation.

Kansas domestic violence programs make every effort to reach those who are underserved. Many of the programs have volunteers and staff of different ethnic, racial, cultural and language diversities in order to meet the victims and their children's needs. Some programs have developed specific services for the underserved areas of their communities. Programs have their brochures and literature to assist victims in various languages or have access to interpreters. Shelter facilities are accessible to those who are differently abled or an alternative safe shelter is provided. Volunteers in the rural isolated areas provide transportation. Many programs also provide access to toll-free numbers for victims to call without a long distance charge. In addition, Kansas has a toll-free number to assist local programs with AT&T interpreter services, 888-END-ABUSE.

Coming to the Northwest Kansas Family Shelter was the best move that I have ever made. It was a place of safety and total comfort with staff members and volunteers with Big Hearts and Compassion that has really filled a big empty void in my life. When I came here I was totally down and felt alone without hope of ever being a respected and loved individual again. My self esteem was destroyed. All that kept me going was the need to protect my dogs and myself from anymore abuse. Everyone here at the Shelter was always there to listen to me and they helped me understand why the abuse not only was happening to me but also why my dogs were also victims of abuse. I will Always recommend going to a shelter to anyone and everyone I see that is in need as I was.

Dear Ms. Olsson

Thank you for coming out and sharing your time with us to tell us about people who bully other people. Also, thank you for showing us girls how to stick up for ourselves to boys. If you hadn't of came I think everyone would still be letting each other call us these vicious names. All these words do is cause hurt feelings and starts fights. We should make sure we ban these names and words from our vocabulary. Well, thank you for coming. I enjoyed your speech and hope you enjoyed us.

Inspiration from the Community

A woman who has been diagnosed with a mental illness was required by the court to have supervised visits through the Riley County Child Exchange and Visitation Center (CEVC), a program of Sunflower CASA Project. After several months of supervised visits this woman now is able to have unsupervised visitations with her son, including overnight stays. If the CEVC program did not exist this woman would not be able to visit her son and this young man would not have the opportunity to interact with his mother.

Inspiration from the Community

"We are overwhelmingly pleased that now we have opened a Family First Center (FFC). This center serves all of our clients. At our FFC, we are able to offer clothing and household items that have been donated to the Crisis Center for our clients. The fantastic part of having the FFC is that our clients are allowed to select their own items, their own clothes, colors, sizes and styles. By beginning with such a small step as making their own selection, our clients are able to take a small step toward regaining control over their lives. Our Victim Advocate has been able to utilize our FFC in unique ways for our clients. Some of the clients have immigration issues and by being able to volunteer at the FFC they can safely satisfy the requirements for low income housing. The clients feel comfortable in the safe and secure environment of the FFC and are eager to participate in other opportunities offered there."

Inspiration from the Community

"I am a mother of a six- and two-year old. I lived with my spouse for about 12 years. I tolerated many years of abuse by my husband. The abuse included emotional, physical, moral and economical. I love my husband so each time I left I would return to him. The abuse kept getting worse. I would leave then return to him because I did not think I could do it on my own. The last time he hurt me I decided I had to get out for myself and my children.

I went to DVACK for help. I was afraid that they would not believe me. Once I arrived I realized that they did believe me and that they were going to help me. When I arrived at DVACK my children were taken by my husband and I was told I did not have rights to them since I was an immigrant. At DVACK they helped me obtain a PFA and PFS, helped me find a job and provided a safe place to stay. While in shelter they helped me find a lawyer free of charge to help me obtain rights with my kids. I also was able to take classes to become a CNA. They have helped me realize that I can do it. I have now moved out of the shelter and into a place of my own. I have my kids with me. It was hard to leave, but I am glad that I did.

I have a message for anyone that is out there in a situation like me. Make a change, make it better. Your life depends on it.
